By 1890 Butler was living in Detroit, MI and working as a clerk for LA Smith & Company. The family lived at 571 Brooklyn Street. Young Jake Kingsbury, age 3, was a boarder with the family at this time and apparently was raised by Butler. By 1900 they also had Butler's sisters, Viola and Edith living with them along with his brother-in-law, Joseph Hinkley.

Butler Dixie Kingsbury and Maggie Hinkley were married about Dec 1890. Maggie Hinkley was born in Aug 1864 in Canada.

7097. William Aden Kingsbury (Stanford A.-25, Aden-24, Benjamin-23, Abijah-22, Theodore-21, Josiah-20, Eleazar-19, Joseph-18, James-17, James-16, John-15, John-14, -13, John de-12, William de-11, Unknown-10, William-9, John de-8, Ralph de-7, William de-6, Peter de-5, 1070-4, Ralf of-3, 1000-2, Ancient-1) was born on 27 Sep 1866 in Adrian, Lenawee, Michigan.[1016] He appeared in the census in 1883. William is listed as living at 24 N. McKenzie Street with his father and Butler Kingsbury, his brother. His occupation is given as Granite Polisher. He moved to Portage, Kalamazoo, Michigan about 1895.[1017] He died on 13 Feb 1925 in Portage, Kalamazoo, Michigan. Died at his home of pulmonary Tuberculosis or "Stone Cutters TB" at age 58. The family believed that fresh air could cure him so they removed the window to his upstairs bedroom in the middle of winter.

One family story is given by the granddaughter of Helen (Gross) Dickinson, a niece of William Kingsbury. According to this account Helen and several other relatives were at the Kingsbury homestead in Portage, Michigan during his illness. "One evening while she (Helen) was in the kitchen washing the dishes, she turned around and Uncle Will was standing in the kitchen doorway. She said, 'Uncle Will, why are you out of bed? You're too sick to be up. Go back upstairs and get back in bed'. She turned to dry her hands to help him back to bed and when she looked back he was gone. She went upstairs to see if he'd gone back to bed and when she got there the relatives by his bed said he had died a little while before. She always felt his spirit had come to say good bye to her." <Jill Ramsey 2/4/2002). He was buried on 17 Feb 1925 in Portage, Kalamazoo, Michigan. Occupation: Stone Cutter & Farmer. According to Floyd Kingsbury, William built a 2 story farm house at the corner of Lovers Lane and Milham Road, Portage, MI. He also built a strong barn that lasted until it was removed for commercial construction in about 1985. William was a very good carpenter and Stone Cutter. There is a picture of him behind a horse as he was plowing a field in the files. William was born in the small rural community of Adrian, MI and possibly it was here that he married Eva R. Powers. Apparently they lived in Adrian for a period after they were married because the first child (Jerry) is listed as being born in Adrian. The second child is listed as being born in Jackson (Jackson City), MI, about 40 miles NE of Adrian. By the time the fourth child was born the family had moved to Portage, (Kalamazoo), MI. William built what became known as "The" Kingsbury homestead or farm. This was a majestic 2 story home on 80 acres of land. It is possible that this house is still standing (restored with picture in file). The barn was a massive structure and was standing for over 100 years until it was destroyed for commercial development.

He died on 15 Dec 1955 in Sioux Falls, Minnehana, South Dakota. Bob Newcomb was running a short order lunch room with his brother, Parker Newcomb, in Garretson, South Dakota when he met his future bride, Ollie Belle Smith. The winter of 1897 they moved to Willow Lake and Clark, South Dakota after their marriage and they both worked as cooks in the local hotels for a combined salary of $30.00 per month. The following summer on 1898 they moved back to Ramona, South Dakota where they started a small restaurant with only six tables. They also purchased their first home for $100.00 which was only a one room building of only 224 square feet. Since their restaurant business was only really profitable during the fall harvest, they closed it up in the winter and went to Artesian, South Dakota where they once again worked as cooks until the next summer of 1899 when they returned to reopen their own restaurant.

Bob was very handy as a carpenter so he moved the small home to a larger lot and began to add on to it. First he added an extra room, then a kitchen, and later a porch was added. It is noted that the family still did not have city water, electric lights, or sewerage. Since Bob seemed to be quite good at carpentry work he started relying on this work during the slow seasons at the restaurant and before long the family started to become financially comfortable. He built a six room house for the family and sold another house that he remodeled.

In 1903 they sold all their property and the business in Ramona and moved to Bryant, South Dakota where he established a restaurant and Billiard business. Bob sold this business in 1907 and in 1908 they moved to Madison, South Dakota where he established another Billiard Hall known as the Smoke House. He continued to expand his business and when the family moved to Dell Rapids, South Dakota in 1913 Bob rented his business ventures in Madison to others. In Dell Rapids they once again started out in the restaurant business, but Bob also began raising chickens. Before long he had a hatchery business that soon became very substantial. By 1930 the hatchery business was incorporated and all four of their sons were brought into the business. By 1934 they moved to Sioux

In July of 1899 Albert was appointed Professor of Applied Mechanics and soon thereafter he developed what has become known as the Kingsbury Thrust Bearing. Beginning in June of 1903 until 1914 he worked as the General Engineer for Westinghouse Electric Company and finally set up his own small shop on Cherry Street in Philadelphia, PA. The U.S. Navy began to use the Kingsbury Thrust Bearing on the propeller shafts of their aircraft in 1917 and a larger plant was built on Tackawanna Street in Frankford, PA. Within a relatively short period of time there were Kingsbury Machine Shops in many of the Navy port locations.

It is interesting to note that a distant cousin, Harry Thayer Kingsbury and his children were also making giant strides in a related field with their mechanical developments in Keene, NH about the same time.

The influence of the Kingsbury Thrust Bearing has been felt in almost every aspect of the mechanical world. The University of New Hampshire recognized Professor Kingsbury on October 14, 1950 with the dedication of the $1 Million dollar Science Building named as Kingsbury Hall.

He died on 22 May 1956 in Tulsa, Tulsa, Oklahoma.[1058] According to the source, A.J. Kingsbury was visiting his son at the time of his death. He was buried in Antigo Cemetery about 27 May 1956 in Antigo, Langlade, Wisconsin. Arthur Kingsbury attended the Michigan Agricultural College in East Lansing, Michigan. Upon graduation he returned to Antigo for a short time and engaged in farming. He soon moved to Boulder, Colorado where he engaged in the oil business. He followed the oil fields to Bay City, Michigan, then to the state of Kansas for two years, then to Oklahoma for a year before returning to Antigo. Here he chose to open a photography studio and busied himself with photographing the life in pioneer Wisconsin. He published several photographs of the pioneer life of the area, the industrial impact, and especially the life of the local Indians. Many of these photographs were published as postcards.

The notion of printing photographs on postcards was a novel idea for this time. In 1903 A.J. Kingsbury became one of Eastman Kodak's first customers and ultimately he produced over a half million postcards per year. Today his work is considered a classic and his postcards are collector's items. The scenes depicted tell us a great deal about the history of the area and the times.

He died on 7 Sep 1961 in Keene, Cheshire, New Hampshire. EARLY HISTORY OF Kingsbury MANUFACTURING COMPANY:

In 1875 David Piper formed the Triumph Wringer Company which manufactured sewing machines and wringers for washing machines and other machines. In 1885 James Wilkins joined the company and shortly thereafter they produced a miniature wringer for the salesmen to use for demonstration. This soon became a hot item as a toy. By 1890 James Wilkins took over and formed the Wilkins Toy Company adding cast iron fire engines and trains to the line. The toy business was founded in earnest with many other items added.

However, James was not an astute financial business man and by 1894 the company was in financial trouble. The 25 year old Harry Kingsbury had started a bicycle business out of his garage and formed a small company. His maternal grandfather, Edward Joslin, decided to give Harry the financial backing he needed to purchase the company and before long cast iron carriages, farm machinery, and even horseless carriages were added to the toy inventory. The company became very successful. In 1902 Harry even patented a spring driven motor for his toy cars and the business took off.

Harry quickly became known as a person with an eye for detail, plus having a mechanical and inventive mind.

Soon he added battery lighting systems for his cars and then a toy bank which recorded the total deposits. Now boats, airplanes, trucks, submarines, and even blimps were added to the line.

In 1916, Harry's eldest son entered the business. Through his mechanical intuitiveness the company soon expanded into other areas. Edward invented and developed special drilling tools and soon the company had a branch known as Kingsbury Machine Tool Company. Their first big sale was to Henry Ford with their Friction Drive Drilling Machine invented by Edward. Next his inventive genius was turned to the fledgling USAir Corp. The original machine he invented for the wing nut is on display at the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, DC. Before long the Machine Tool Company became the largest part of the Kingsbury Company.

By now the younger son, Chester also joined the firm and worked closely with his father in the toy portion of the business. Soon they started production of replica of the Chrysler automobiles with the new model each year as an exact replica. Chrysler was so impressed with the detail that they allowed only Kingsbury Toy Company to mark their toys with the emblem of "Body by Fisher". The Depression of 1929-1930 had a negative impact on the toy business especially, followed by a devastating flood which shut the company down in 1936. The Kingsbury family was not about to let a little thing like that stop them and they decided to expand their operation. They were again hit with a hurricane and flood in 1938. Again they came back, but by 1939 the war production was beginning to dominate. Metal for toys began to take a lower priority and by 1942 the toy company was shut down permanently in favor of the tool and machining business. Kingsbury Machine and Tool Company was a leader in the war production, growing by leaps and bounds. In 1944 the toy production equipment was sold to Keystone Manufacturing Company of Boston.

By the end of the century, Kingsbury Machine & Tool was a major industry with the manufacture of tools and parts found in all aspects of industry; from hand tools to automobiles - washing machines to air conditioners - typewriters to farm equipment.

One of the photographs showed the beautiful Assington Manor which was built be W. B. Kingsbury & Sons. However, it has since burned down

I remember when I visited Assington, as always I could see the church from a distance. As I approached the church I turned into the wrong driveway without knowing it. There was a large parking area in front of a stone fence. There was a lady out on a riding mower in a large lawn area and when I stopped she got off the mower and came over. We exchanged a couple of amenities and I told her that I had stopped to see the church. The lady then said; "you realize that you are seriously trespassing, do you not?" I remembered that I had driven over an unusual mat across the entrance to the drive and was at a loss as to what to say. I told her that I did not realize that the church was private and she explained that I had driven onto private property, but that the church was next door. Her concern was the protection of their live stock during the foot and mouth epidemic during this year (2001). The lady then went on to say : "However, since you have such a quaint accent I shall let you pass this time". She went on to say that their home was originally a great manor, but was burned down by a very vindictive man with a box of matches. They did some reconditioning and built a smaller home within the old stone wall that originally surrounded the manor. I assume this was the same manor built by the Kingsbury family. The lady then graciously led me through their private gate into the church yard and I went on the tour the beautiful Assington Church.

Francis died as a result of cancer of the stomach. He was buried in Deerfield Township Cemetery about 11 Sep 1903 in Deerfield, Lenawee, Michigan. The cemetery is directly across Kingsbury Road in front of the old Kingsbury farm. Deerfield is a very small rural community about 20 miles East of Adrian, Michigan. As of 1993 the Francis Kingsbury farm, which was handed down and worked by William Kingsbury, was later sold to Mack Tennant after the death of William. The farm is about 1/4 mile West of the Cemetery. It has two old barns and a well built frame house which are the original buildings. The main barn was built on a small rise, as was the custom, to enable the filling of the hay loft. The main part of the barn was underneath. Most of the land in Lenawee county is level and very rich black dirt. This is obviously very good farming country, yet only a few miles inland from Lake Erie and the Great Lakes water system.

Dakota.[1161] He died in 1980 in Keystone, Pennington, South Dakota.[1162] According to public records, Ray apparently worked with the sculptor, Gutzon Borglum on Mount Rushmore as an assistant carpenter. We do not have the data of when he started, but apparently he was still working until 1940, a year after the final dedication. His rate of pay at this time was only 65 cents per hour. Ray also lived on and farmed part of his father's land, plus some additional land in Bowesmont, ND that he purchased.

Although Ray was well known for his many other activities in Walsh County, ND, the fact that he spent time at the creation of Mount Rushmore National Park will be how history remembers him. The great sculptor, Gutzon Borglum was first approached to visit South Dakota to consider carving a mountain as a monument for the pioneer development of the west in 1923. The first sixteen months were spent obtaining the necessary governmental sponsorship. He chose Mount Rushmore in the Black Hills near Rapid City, SD and the mountain was dedicated to the project on October 1, 1925. On July 4, 1930 the first face on the mountain, that of George Washington, was unveiled. The face of Thomas Jefferson was dedicated in 1936 and Abraham Lincoln was unveiled on September 17, 1937. The final face, that of Theodore Roosevelt was dedicated on July 2, 1939 and the great monument to the west was complete. It took a total of 14 years to complete the sculpture and it significant to note the with all the hazards and danger, not one single life was lost in this project. The work on the visitor facilities would continue for several decades and in point of fact was nearing completion upon our visit in 2002.

The 28th Regiment became a part of the Army of the Tennessee and trained at Bird's point, Missouri. After training they were assigned to the swamps and bottom lands of Mississippi for patrol. His first actual engagement came at Belmont, and then he was in the campaigns of Fort Henry and Fort Donelson. In the Battle of Shiloh Francis received a flesh wound in his right thigh. Francis later was involved in the Battle of Hatchie River and the Siege of Vicksburg. He moved to Monroe County, Missouri in Dec 1865. He moved to Moulton, Appanoose, Iowa in 1868. Francis operated a farm here for about 18 years before moving on again. He moved to White Woman Twp, Wichita, Kansas in Apr 1886. They shipped their automobile on the railroad to Lakin, Kansas and followed it with a team and wagon with eight head of cattle to Wichita County, Kansas. He used their last amount of cash for their pre-emption papers on their land and soon built a two room frame house on their claim. Farming in this frontier area was difficult and, although at first they did quite well with their wheat crops and their horses, their corn was a failure and they lost most of their cattle. They abandoned their pre-emption land about 1894 and moved to a ranch on White Woman River. The land was good and there was plenty of water. They eventually file on this land as a soldier's homestead. Over the next twelve years they built several buildings on the ranch and Francis became active in his community. Fire totally destroyed the buildings in 1904 and they sold the ranch for a loss and moved into Leoti. He died on 5 May 1928 in Partridge, Reno, Kansas.

She died in Oct 1947 in Princeton, Mercer, New Jersey. Frances was 28 years younger than her husband who, at 250 pounds, was also about twice as heavy as the bride. It also seems the her husband was at least partially supporting a son born to him out of an affair he had with Mrs. Maria Halpin and the child was named Oscar Folsom Cleveland. Oscar Folsom was the law partner of Grover Cleveland at the time and there were very close family ties. Oscar Folsom was killed in a buggy accident in 1876 and Grover took an interest in helping the widow and her daughter, Frances.

The press made it very difficult for the newly weds and even hounded them on their honeymoon. But it was not long before the active and very youthful First Lady won the hearts of the public and the press. She remained an active part of the White House and the affairs of the Administration even after the conclusion of her two terms in office.

He died on 24 Jun 1908 in Princeton, Mercer, New Jersey. He worked in BET. 1881 - 1882 in Buffalo, Erie, New York Grover Cleveland chose to support his widowed mother rather than attend college. He started reading law while he served as clerk at a Buffalo, NY law firm and was admitted to the NY Bar in 1859. He quickly became involved in politics with the Democratic Party and made a name for himself as one who was opposed to corruption in government. As Governor of New York he soon became an enemy of Tammany Hall, the corrupt New York City machine.

As president he continued his campaign against corruption by transferring thousands of jobs from patronage to civil service. He was also opposed to the high tariff stance of the US Government which put him at odds with big business. This became the key issue of the 1888 election. Cleveland won the total popular vote, but lost to Republican Benjamin Harrison in the Electoral vote. He returned to his law practice in New York City. In 1892 Grover Cleveland was again nominated by his party and this time won the election against incumbent Harrison in one of the largest popular votes in history.

His second term was dominated by a severe economic depression. President Cleveland saw the outflow of gold as the basis of the problem and enlisted the banking community for help, led by J. P. Morgan. The depression was particularly harsh on the farmers and laborers. There was a massive strike in Chicago which threatened the shutdown of the railroad system. President Cleveland sent in the militia to bring order. He averted the strike which won the praise of the business leaders, but cost him in the popular sector.

Elsie Merle Mills and James Porter Badour were married in 1917 in Canada. James Porter Badour was born about 1897. He died in 1972. Elsie Merle Mills and James Porter Badour had the following children:

+11854 i. Joan Pauline Badour (born in 1932).

9754. Jerry James Kingsbury (William Aden-26, Stanford A.-25, Aden-24, Benjamin-23, Abijah-22, Theodore-21, Josiah-20, Eleazar-19, Joseph-18, James-17, James-16, John-15, John-14, -13, John de-12, William de-11, Unknown-10, William-9, John de-8, Ralph de-7, William de-6, Peter de-5, 1070-4, Ralf of-3, 1000-2, Ancient-1) was born on 22 Feb 1887 in Adrian, Lenawee, Michigan. He died on 10 Jan 1962 in Kalamazoo, Kalamazoo, Michigan. Age 74-Cause Arteo (sic) Arthritis, other cause- terminal Pneumonia. Informant was William A. Kingsbury-Kalamazoo. No Military Service. He was buried in Prairie Home Cemetery on 13 Jan 1962 in Richland, Kalamazoo, Michigan. Jerry was a very active man and a hard worker. For several years he operated the RR Crane in the coal yard of the paper company. He was well know for being mechanically inclined; He usually made his own repairs on the crane and built several modifications. He also built and wired the family home at 827 E. Cork Street, Kalamazoo, MI. which was still standing in 1990 as a music store (pictures in file). Jerry loved to fish, but was hampered by arthritis. He rented an upstairs apartment and forced himself to climb the stairs at least twice per day for the exercise. One day he was fishing and slipped in the boat. He hurt his hip, and while allowing that to heal, his arthritis set up. It became so bad that every two weeks his son, Floyd, and Grandson, Kenneth, would literally carry him into a Chiropractor, Dr. Taylor, in Otsego, MI. They would form a seat with their arms and carry him into the office. Per a letter which Floyd Kingsbury had at his death, apparently Jerry lived for a period of time in Detroit, Michigan. It is noted that Stanford and his son, Butler, may have also lived in Detroit about 1890.

Jerry James Kingsbury and Ida A. Tripp were married on 27 Dec 1912 in Allegan, Allegan, Michigan. They were divorced about 1943 in Michigan. Ida gives Otsego, MI as residence-Jerry gives Kalamazoo, MI. Ida gives age 22. Occupation - Cutter girl in Paper Mill. Jerry age-25; Occupation - Fireman on Railroad. Minister-A.V. Brashear. Note 3 days after Ida's divorce from Robert Espy was final. Jerry and Ida divorced after 38+ years. Ida A. Tripp (daughter of B. Jay (James) Tripp and Emma Belou) was born on 31 Mar 1890 in Burt Lake, Cheboygan, Michigan.[1280] Cheboygan, MI is on the Northern tip of the state just 20 miles from the Straits of Mackinaw, and the town overlooks Lake Huron. Cheboygan is birthplace on Marriage Cert.-Jerry Kingsbury, but to this date no evidence of a birth in Michigan has been confirmed. There is some possibility she was born in Canada, possibly Nova Scotia (Floyd always claimed he was Canadian French and that his mother had some Indian ancestry).

1900 Michigan Soundex listed only 2 Ida Tripps in Michigan. One was the daughter of George Tripp (b. May 1860-Canada) and Emma Tripp (b. Aug. 1861-Canada). This Ida was born Dec. 1884 in Canada and had one sibling, Anna Tripp, b. Jan. 1894-Michigan. The other Ida Tripp was listed as an inmate of the Kalamazoo Children's Home on West Street, born in Michigan with the date unknown. No other information was given. For now we will assume that the second Ida is our grandmother. It would account for her being vague about the year of her birth. Also she is in Kalamazoo the same year as her brother. She died on 30 Oct 1953 in Kalamazoo, Kalamazoo, Michigan.[1281] Age-Death Cert gives 55, but best estimate is 63 or 64. Cause-Cardiac Insufficiency; Pre-cause- Thyroid Adruoma (sic). Informant-Everett Kingsbury. She was buried in Prairie Home Cemetery on 2 Nov 1953 in Richland, Kalamazoo, Michigan. Her grave is offset from the other family graves as if she were in another plot. Samuel Tripp, Jay Tripp, and Pauline Espy are also buried in this cemetery. The background of Ida Tripp is difficult to ascertain. She was prone to give inaccurate information about her age and ancestry, although it is possible that she did not personally know all the details of her family. Ida was also one who loved to party, and was always ready to go out dancing. There is some indication that this was a point of dissent ion between her and her husband and often Ida would go out alone.

He died in May 1974 in Keene, Cheshire, New Hampshire.[1342] Edward joined his father's company upon graduation with a degree in engineering from MIT and soon began to lead the company in a new direction which would ultimately become the future of Kingsbury Company. In the machining business a common problem was the number of times drill bits and machines would break when the would strike a hard piece of material. Edward put his inventive skills to work and in 1918 he patented a Friction Drive Drilling Machine. This one invention propelled the company in a whole new direction and the company was renamed the Kingsbury Manufacturing Company with Edward as the president of this division. In 1923 Edward developed the concept of placing drilling machine units on a rotary table to increase production through simultaneous drilling procedures which led to the development of the Rotary Transfer Drilling Machine. This would have a tremendous effect on mass production.

Over the years the company has become known as a very creative company which makes every effort to stay ahead of needs in the industry. It was not unusual that the U.S. Government called upon Kingsbury Manufacturing Company to produce a special wing nut which they needed for their new Air Corps. Edward Kingsbury came through and the original machine developed to produce this wing nut is now on display in the Smithsonian Institute. Under Edward's direction this branch of the company soon became a major industry which is today an influence in almost every aspect of our industrial economy.

A new barn was soon built and life continued as usual. Harvest time in the area was often a community undertaking and the women of all the farmers would gather in the Kingsbury kitchen to fill the house with the smells of good ole home cooked food. At times there would be two dozen at the table.

He died on 29 Sep 1992 in Hemet, Riverside, California. The day before Thanksgiving, 1990 Floyd had the major portion of one lung removed due to cancer. He never fully regained his strength and finally died from cancer. In retrospect it seems very likely that Floyd had prostate cancer for years, but always refused to go to a doctor. He was cremated on 7 Oct 1992 in Hemet, Riverside, California.[1542] He was buried in Children's National Park on 26 Aug 1995 in Running Springs, San Bernardino, California. Excerpts from letter written by their daughter, Barbara Kingsbury Eddings, 27 Aug., 1995:

"On Saturday, August 26, 1995 I set the remains of my Mother, Bernadine Kingsbury and Father, Floyd James Kingsbury free. My husband and I discovered a beautiful setting off Highway 18 by Running Springs, California close by Arrowbear. In a small resort community with a population of about 2,600 people. The country setting is at 6030' but we went further up in the mountains to a little above 7000'. There will be children to visit them as Mom will enjoy since she always loved kids. The setting is Children's National Park at Keller Peak Road Lookout. Keller Peak is named after the great works of Helen Keller (a blind lady who became a national inspiration with her efforts to lead a normal life). Its five winding miles off the two lane Highway; four miles on one road then a right turn for one more mile......... The view at about 7000' is breathtakingly beautiful.

The country they always admired and respected. As I scattered Dad's ashes, I was not afraid of being in an unfamiliar place in what was now pitch dark. The only light from a small flashlight. I felt his presence protecting us from the possible rattlesnakes, coyote, and bear. There was only the peacefulness of the fresh mountain air and the spectacular view in this rocky, wooded area......... Scattering Dad's ashes was as graceful and peaceful as he lived his life; a style of ease. Mom held true to her style to the very end. She could be a sweet, loving woman or a fiery of stubbornness. No matter how hard we tried, we could not open her urn. Her urn was a different kind than Dad's and it appeared it would slide apart. Wrong! It was good Ken (Robert Ken Eddings) had a jack knife. In trying to pry it apart we snapped the blade off his knife, but not before Ken slightly cut his thumb. Thankfully it was a dull blade. We tried using a stick and broke the stick. Finally with what was left of the knife and using the leather lease (dog lease), we finally pried the bottom of Mom's urn off. It was as if we could hear her laughing at us the whole time. I then scattered Mom's ashes over Dad's where they can always be together".

(From Huntington Beach, CA take Hwy 91-E, Hwy 10-E, Hwy 330-NE toward Arrowhead; Hwy 18-E 2 miles S of Running Springs at border sign of Arrowbear, turn right on Keller Peak Lookout Road and Children's National Park. Go 4 miles turn right; go 1 mile to dead end of road.)

In the early 1940s, he worked at the Bryant Paper Co., Kalamazoo, MI as a crane operator (much like his father). In 1946 they bought the small farm in Kellogg, a small community 6 miles East of Allegan, Michigan. Floyd continued to work at the Paper Mill in Kalamazoo (25 miles away) until he got a job at Blood Brothers (later N.A Rockwell Spring & Axel) in Allegan. He retired about 1974 after 28 years. The farm was sold about 1962, and they built a brick ranch style home overlooking Minkler Lake between Allegan and Paw Paw. Later they moved (after retirement) to a mobile home in Allegan, and eventually moved the mobile home to a lake near Baldwin, Michigan. This was sold by land contract when Floyd and "Bird" moved to Perris, California. Later, with the help of his daughter, Floyd purchased a small retirement home in Hemet, CA (a small community in the mountains West of Palm Springs).

Floyd was a hard worker all his life. He loved the farm and was very good with machinery and building things. He loved to hunt, but his favorite recreation was fishing.

Floyd James Kingsbury and Bernadine (Bird) Bolt were married on 26 Aug 1936 in Kalamazoo, Kalamazoo, Michigan. Bernadine (Bird) Bolt (daughter of Willem (William) Bolt and Berendina Harminia Antje Bottenga) was born on 7 Oct 1915 in Kalamazoo, Kalamazoo, Michigan. She died on 2 Mar 1995 in Garden Grove, Orange, California. "Bird" Bolt Kingsbury was in a nursing care facility for about one year before her death. The last few months of her life she had no recollection of who she was, nor did she recognize her daughter Barbara who visited her almost daily. The doctors seem to feel that her borderline diabetes may have been causing a series of minor strokes which finally caused her death. She was cremated on 9 Mar 1995 in Hemet, Riverside, California. She was buried in Children's National Park on 26 Aug 1995 in Running Springs, San Bernardino, California. Homemaker/Factory Worker Dutch/Raised Calvinistic Reformed 1925 changed birth name from Berendina at school. Met Floyd while they were both working at Bronson Hospital, in Kalamazoo, Michigan. Larry enjoyed travel and oriental cooking. As part of his work he would travel to all parts of the world. He would spend about 2 years in each location. He has been stationed in such places as Japan, Greece, Thailand, Spain, and others. Until about 1980, the family would never know where he was located until after he came home. We would have a P.O. Box in Washington, D.C. that we would write to and he would respond through the same address. The last time he was home, he told his parents he was into something "unusual". Then letters began to be returned with the note Addressee Unknown. We were not able to find out anything about him, and the government treated the situation as if he never existed. In 1992, his sister, Barbara, was able to obtain word through a special legal group that Larry was alive and well, but we were not allowed to know where he was living. He apparently was given a new identity.

Per notes from sister (Barbara Kingsbury Eddings) his last known address was 4935 Manitoba Drive Apt 204, Alexandria, VA. (Barbara also had some rental property near there). Apparently Barbara was the last family member to see him (Sept 1978) and last spoke to him in 1979 after he returned to Washington DC from Pretoria, Dept of State, Washington DC 20520. The emergency CIA phone number was (703)354-7385. At the time of his disappearance, Larry was staying at a friend's condo (also CIA) and was attending some college classes.

He served in the CIA for about 18 years and planned to retire in 2 more years. Per Barbara his Soc. Sec. # was 381-42-3500 and he left the Navy in 1971.

He was educated Tulane University in 1936 in Louisiana. Howard graduated Phi Beta Kappa, was the President of the Student Body, and an outstanding track star. He was educated Heidelberg University in 1937 in Heidelberg, Germany. He was educated Rhodes Scholar at Merton College of Oxford University from 1937 to 1939 in Oxford, Oxfordshire, England. He died on 17 Feb 2002. "In 1940 he joined United Press as their correspondent in London and Copenhagen, and in 1941 joined CBS News, where he replaced William L. Shirer as CBS's Berlin correspondent. The last American correspondent to leave Berlin after war was declared, he reached safely to Switzerland with a manuscript that described conditions in Germany, which became the basis for his best selling book "Last Train from Berlin".

Durint the war Smith accompanied the Allied sweep through Belgium, Holland, and into Germany. He was on hand when the Germans surrendered to the Russians under Marshall Zhukov in 1945, and then covered the Nuremburg trials. In 1946 he succeeded (Edward R.) Morrow as CBS's London correspondent, where he spent the next eleven years covering Europe and the Middle East.

In 1949 Smith published "The State of Europe", advocating a planned economy and the Welfare State for post-war Europe. Perhaps for this reason, and to some extent because of his radical past, he was named as a communist supporter in RED CHANNELS, a McCarthyite document purporting to uncover Communist conspiracy in the media industries. He hardly suffered from these accusations, however, since both Morrow and his overseas posting protected him. Indeed in 1957, Smith returned to the U.S. and in 1960 was named chief of the CBS Washington Bureau, where he hosted programs such as THE GREAT CHALLENGE and FACE THE NATION, the Emmy award winning CBS REPORTS documentary THE POPULATION EXPLOSION. He served as moderator of the first Kennedy-Nixon presidential debate."

Osborne School was a one room rural school house with grades Kindergarten through 8th grade all taught by one teacher in the same room. In the winter time the school was heated by coal in an old Franklin pot belly stove. He was baptized in Immanuel Lutheran Church on 13 Jun 1958 in Allegan, Allegan, Michigan He graduated from Western Michigan University with a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Aug 1964 in Kalamazoo, Kalamazoo, Michigan Ken majored in History and minored in English and Religion. He graduated from Lutheran School of Theology with a Master of Theology Degree in Jun 1968 in Chicago, Cook, Illinois Here Ken majored in Biblical Theology and minored in Pastoral Counseling.

He was educated in Studies toward a Doctoral Degree in Biblical Theology at Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary in 1978 in Austin, Travis, Texas. Resigned from the active ministry before studies in Biblical Theology were complete. At the age of 6 years, moved to a small farm 6 miles East of Allegan, Michigan. The sons of Floyd Kingsbury were usually quite busy on the farm since Floyd had a full time job in town. Once Ken started high school he began to work different jobs in town. While at Western Michigan University he worked as a school bus driver, factory worker, and finally as an orderly in a state mental hospital. He moved to Chicago and while attending seminary he worked one year as Education and Youth Director for Geneva Lutheran Church, Geneva, Illinois, on the maintenance crew of the Seminary Campus for 1 year and as an orderly in the Illinois Central RR Hospital the last 2 years. Just before his graduation, he received a divorce from Joanne Spencer Kingsbury and as a result was refused ordination into the ministry at this time. After graduation from Seminary he taught 5th grade for one year at Hazelcrest ISD on the South side of Chicago. During this period he made a name for himself as the Chairman of the Steering Committee for the Classroom Teachers Association in the drafting and negotiating of a contract between the Teachers Association and the School Board. The next year (1969) he moved to Shreveport, Louisiana where he started an insurance agency, originally working exclusively with school teachers representing Horace Mann Educators Insurance Company out of Illinois, and later becoming a general agent for several insurance companies. During the years 1970 and 1971 he was recognized as the leading agent for his company in the State of Louisiana. By 1974 he was finally allowed to continue his career as a Lutheran minister. He moved to Marshall, Texas as Pastor of Good Shepherd Lutheran Church for 4 years. He moved to Schulenburg, Texas in 1978 as Pastor of United Lutheran Church, an old rural German community. During this period he started studies at Austin Presbyterian Seminary working for his Doctorate. However, due to dissension with the Bishop (Philip Wahlberg) which always centered on the divorce back in 1968, he decided to leave the Lutheran Ministry. Pastor Kingsbury was always very active in community affairs. In Marshall he was President of the Ministerial Association and Chairman of United Churches Care. He was recognized for outstanding service in 1978. During his year at Schulenburg he was called upon as speaker for both the Schulenburg and the La Grange graduating classes. In 1979 he moved to Dallas. After a short period working in a factory, he entered the Real Estate field and soon became a real estate investor which he continued until the economic crunch of 1984-86. In 1987 he went through a bankruptcy losing his business and the 14 rental properties he had accumulated. By 1989 the family even lost their beautiful homestead.

In 1986 Ken started in the grocery industry as a Food Service Clerk, and within 15 months moved into management, finally becoming a Food Service Manager. In 1993 he became a Bakery Manager for Albertson's Grocery and began to look into real estate investing again. In 1994 he formed his own corporation, Dutchman Enterprises, Inc. and purchased a rent house in Garland, Texas. It was a very nice house and Ken and his wife, Lyn decided to move into it themselves. In 1995 Ken accepted a position as Hardware Manager with the same company his wife and Step-Son worked at. In 1997 the company decided to create a new department and Ken became a commercial locksmith. In this position he created master key systems for the businesses the company provided the hardware for and Ken would key the locks before they were installed on the job site. In August of 2003 Ken lost his job when the company closed the locksmith department. He chose to take an early retirement rather than seek a position elsewhere and increased his side business of commercial locksmithing for the end users as a means of supplementing his Social Security income. Ken always considered himself somewhat an entrepreneur. In addition to the real estate investment and locksmith ventures, he also conducted an income tax service out of his home for several years.

Ken was always one to be active in his community. While active in the ministry he won several awards for his community achievements. During much of his adult life he loved to bass fish. He also held interests in computers and genealogy. Ken and his wife both love the arts and are members of the Dallas Museum of Art, the Dallas Theater Center, the Fort Worth Kimbell Art Museum, the Dallas Arboretum, and were season ticket holders to several musical and theater groups.

HEALTH: Basically very healthy. In March 1993 Ken had a skin cancer (Basal Carcinoma) removed from his left forehead. This condition was the direct result of the heavy concentrations of sun reflected off the lake during his bass fishing days. The doctor strongly recommended he discontinue his fishing which he did. Another growth was removed January 1996 and a third growth the following year. A fourth and fifth growth were removed from around the nose in 2003 and an early stage Melanoma was removed from his chest. He developed a mild blood pressure problem in 1994 and the doctor attributed much of it to job stress. Ken also suffered from allergic reaction to tree pollen and in 1995 started a weekly program of allergy shots. January, 1999 Ken was diagnosed with early prostate cancer. He had the prostate surgically removed and the prognosis seems very good that it was completely removed.

Although Billy (BJ) Smith was never formally adopted by Kenneth, he was in fact raised as his son from the age of 15. Carolyn Irene (Lyn) Girtman (daughter of Charles Foster Girtman and Carolyn (Callie) Fite) was born on 30 May 1943 in Atlanta, Fulton, Georgia. Carolyn (Lyn) Girtman Kingsbury is of German ancestry and raised as a Southern lady. Much of her adult life she worked hard in the Hollow Metal/Hardware industry. She was one of the very few women highly respected in what was then considered a man's world. She started working with Harry L. Girtman (known as Uncle Harry) and her brother, Charles Girtman, at Dinkins Hardware about 1969. She moved to Dallas, Texas in 1978 where she worked for Payne and Howard as Operations Manager until it went bankrupt in 1985. She was diagnosed with Hyperlupidemia, a disorder which multiplies the triglycerides in the blood. Normal range is below 150 and she had over 3,000. Blood of this type will tend to destroy almost all her internal organs. She had a D&C operation in February of , a full hysterectomy in March in which the doctor had a heparin drip active during the operation (something very dangerous and never done before), and in May was admitted with an infected Pancreas and Gall Bladder. The Gall Bladder was removed. At this time it was also discovered that she had abdominal ulcers. By August 1994 she finally returned to work and her blood seems to be under control with medication. The day before her birthday in 2004 Lyn suffered a mini stroke specifically known as a TIA. She discovered that her arteries were blocked with plaque and on 16 June 2004 she had Carotid Artery surgery on the right side of her neck. The renewed blood flow on the right side cleared the left side enough that surgery was not required on that side.

During his tenure there, Jim produced a computer program that analyzed the interior burning of the Solid Rocket Boosters (SRBs)attached to the Shuttle's External Tank. This was the first time that such a complex interior design had been analyzed using computers and the result was an unprecedented advance in accuracy. However, in 1973 some labor disputes were settled in court which effectively eliminated all the positions contracted by NASA at Marshall Space Flight Center. He moved to Herndon, Fairfax, Virginia in 1978. Jim took a job with The MITRE Corporation - a company that runs several federally funded research and development centers in the division sponsored by the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA). Jim worked in the MITRE laboratories in McLean, Virginia and interacted with FAA engineers and program managers at the FAA Headquarters in Washington, DC. It was while working with the FAA that Jim was instrumental in the development of the theory and mathematical algorithms for the computer assisted conflict detection and resolution automation tools that aid air traffic controllers in keeping air commerce in the United States safe and secure.

The program is known as Advanced En Route Automation (AERA) and was later installed into the FAA's Air Route Traffic Control Center computers under the name URET (User Request Evaluation Tool). These mathematical algorithms could predict when two aircraft would come too close together giving the Air Traffic Controller 20 minutes warning of an impending collision, thus giving them adequate time to give remedial action. Jim continued to work of this program and developed the computer program, based upon the same mathematical assumptions, to automatically produce the best conflict resolution for the aircraft. This program is scheduled to be implemented shortly after his retirement.

He retired from his work in 2003 due to health issues and has plans to publish a history of the Kingsbury family in the year 2004.
